

Short Resume – 28.11.2023

Guido Broich is an expert in Hygiene, Epidemiology and Organization of the Public Health Service with a record in teaching, research, scientific writing and top level management in the Health Sector.

Guido Broich is a German national, born 1955 in Münster/Westf. He obtained his Bachelor at the German School of Milan (Italy) in 1974 and his MD degree “cum laude” in 1980 from the University of Pavia. He did his first speciality residency in Ear Nose and Throat Surgery and second in Epidemiology, Hygiene and Public Health, both at University of Pavia and “cum laude” final degree. Between 1981 and 1987 he did spent about three years in the United States, first at the House Ear Clinic in Los Angeles in 1981, than at State University of New York at Stony Brook (PhD study) (1983-1984) and finally with a third preference Green Card at the University of Cincinnati as assistant professor (1987), passing all US licensing requirements (ECFMG, VQE and FLEX).

In Italy he got his first teaching assignment at Pavia University in Neurophysiology, followed by those in Worker’s Health at Milan University, Forensic Medicine and Epidemiology, Organization of Public Health Services at Ferrara University’s Legal Medicine Faculty and now teaches Epidemiology and Health Service Organization at the “SLOP - Scuola Lombarda di Psicoterapia” of Pavia University.

He has an MBA in Hospital administration at Pavia University and further two masters with the Lombardy Government for General and Medical Hospital direction, as well as further two administration masters with Pavia University. Actually he is corresponding member of the German “Societas Medico-Physica Erlangensis” of the University of Erlangen-Nürnberg and Member of the Editorial Board of Anticancer Research in Athens. Since 2019 he writes as journalist for an Italian newspaper. As of 2023 Dr. Broich has published over 300 papers, articles and books.

Dr. Broich is the only one that has been Medical Director of both public teaching hospital foundations IRCCS Policlinico di Milano and IRCCS Policlinico di Pavia, as well as the private IRCCS Galeazzi. He has served as General Director in the National Health Service and President or CEO of public and private companies as well as Central Auditor of Sereni Orizzonti SpA, a private company that runs over 100 Nursing Homes. He retired from Public Service in April 2019, and acts now as Senior Consultant and Partner of B&C Consulting, srl.

Dr. Broich specializes in building new activities and restructuring ailing ones, especially in the public sector, often working in synergy with major economist experts like Vitale-Novelli-Zane srl of Milan.

In his private life his main hobbies are oldtimer cars and aeronautics. He founded one of the first Flight Groups of the Italian Civil Safety and was consultant to the Military for several decades. He is passionate in history and genealogy, where he publishes with several international study groups like CESNUR, IAGI, ICOC and is fonder of the “Centro Studi e Documentazione Storica Paolo Gorini”, of which he was President form 2004 to 2006. At this moment he is Vice-president of the shooting association “Gruppo Sportivo Interforze Torre de' Negri” federated with the Italian Olympic Committee and IDPA as well as President of the St. Ambrosius Fraternity. He has been Rotary Club member in Milan and Monza.

Dr. Broich received many national, international and dynastic orders and honours during his career, among which here only the Hungarian Vitéz Order and the highest Italian Kightly State Order “Merit of the Republic of Italy”, at the Knight Officer (2006), Commander (2012) and Kight Grand Officer (2018) level, may be mentioned.

Further information and publication list is available at his website www.guidobroich.it.